Your Open Day 2016

Who is excited about Canberra Potters Open Day 2016?
I am! I'm looking forward to a great family day, to promote our fabulous organisation and all that it offers, and to catch up with you all.

Included in the activities is a range of demonstrations. A sneak peek at the line up is porcelain carving by the very talented Liz Crowe—our 2016 Doug Alexander Award winner, Monika Leone will reveal her secrets of altering turned foot-rings into decorative feet, and will hand-build with coloured clays. Ingrid Adler will provide a hand-building demonstration too.

Our friends from Walker Ceramics Clayworks and Keanes will have their trade tables packed with goodies. Please support them, as they are always generous with prizes for our Members’ Exhibition that is running in the Gallery during Open Day.

Raku promises to be a treat, with Jennifer Collier leading this popular attraction. She reports that there are many delightful shapes bisqued and ready to go. Get there early and watch the magic!

Hands-on favourites include Have-a-Go, Have-a-Throw, and hand-building hosted by Alex De Vos and Paul Dumetz.

Our very own Marlene Flanagan is supervising sales of wholesome soups served in hand-made bowls which you purchase for a very reasonable price, while Eden Reni is running the pizza oven to produce delicious bread.

Don't miss our studio holders who will have their doors open, offering their wares, and a peek at the lives of avid ceramicists.

We are hoping for good weather, so join us centre stage for a coffee/barista demonstration by Cherryripe of Watson Shops, the Iron Potter Challenge and the Raffle Draw (pictured at right). We anticipate music and song from some talented local amateur performers to add to the atmosphere.

See you there!

Velda Hunter Chair

CHRISTMAS FAIR

Call for Participants
This year’s fair runs from 8-23 December
If you’d like to participate, email: admin@canberrapotters.com.au or phone 6241 1670.
You can read the pottery fair information handbook here.
From the Director

What a night! What a show! Congratulations to all the winners in this year’s Members’ Exhibition, especially to our Doug Alexander Award winner for 2016, Liz Crowe. Congratulations too to all who entered. As Richard Baz (The Curatoreum & Undercurrent Art Market) said in his opening address, we all too often undervalue the act of making. I agree. For every piece that makes it to the wall or plinth how many others litter the kiln shed floor? I was reminded again of the uniqueness of this award where those from all ceramic streams and levels compete on an even field for a chance to win a major award. I posit there are not too many other artforms that afford this opportunity. Thank you to our guest judge Margaret Brown, a potter from Bega on the NSW South Coast and self-proclaimed pottery recluse. We’re so glad we could coax her away from her wheel long enough to perform what must be an onerous task.

It seems we no sooner complete one event and another is demanding our attention, as we concluded our Floriade participation a week before we mounted the Members’ Exhibition. Thank you to artsACT and their generous offer to give us and other KAOs the opportunity to test the water at Floriade. Rainy weather aside, we’re still assessing the success of the event but feel if the opportunity were to come again we would run a modified model. Perhaps we could consider a group art exhibition to really excite visitors and locals about what we have to offer.

Well, Open Day is the next big event and planning is going full steam ahead. Please get involved. We always need helpers for what promises to be a great family day event.

Now what’s next?

Richard Thomas
Director
director@canberrapotters.com.au

It’s all about the pots— Ian & Christine, Carol Kenchington, Jackie & Rob at the Members’ Exhibition opening. Gosia Pilat (Delve), Cathy Franzi (From the Red Heart), Paul at Floriade.
Workshops, Classes & Special Shorts

Term 4 enrolments are now open and going strong with most Introductory classes booked out already.

I have been trying to refine the curriculum this year to make clearer steps for our Beginning Students who want to carry on after the Intro courses.

With that in mind, Term 4 has some new offerings:

Basic Wheel (Thursdays 6 – 9 pm) and Basic Handbuilding (Wednesday morning OR Sunday afternoon), are designed to flow directly on from the Introductory Course. They are all 7 weeks long and completely structured with the beginner in mind. They are designed to develop a good foundation of basic techniques so people can start to improve and develop with confidence.

Following on from that students can enrol in Continuing classes. These offer a flexible structure and are responsive to ideas and the skill levels in the group. This offers a bridge into our more General Classes – which operate as always as mixed groups and for students who are more independent and have their own projects in mind.

A Heads-Up on what's on offer over the Summer break so you can plan your time off work now!!

We are pleased to announce Jenny Orchard as our Summer School presenter this January! Due to the public holiday, this year’s Intensive will start on Wednesday 4 and run through to Sunday 8 January. This will book out so get in quick!

$420 for members & $460 non-members.

This is a fantastic opportunity to work with a renowned ceramic artist. For 5 days you can immerse yourself in your own practise. Come with a project in mind and Jenny will guide you and mentor you through it. There will be demonstrations and talks as the week progresses and you are bound to learn heaps!

For the Beginners out there we will again be offering our Introductory Intensive during the same period. A 3 and a half day condensed version of the popular Introductory course. This follows the same content as the regular Introductory course and will set up the participants to be ready to join us in Term 1 in Basic Wheel or Handbuilding. It will run on Wednesday 4 to Friday 6 January plus a follow up Raku firing session to be arranged with the group.

Curriculum Development

Jenny Orchard

A Heads-Up on what's on offer over the Summer break so you can plan your time off work now!!

We are pleased to announce Jenny Orchard as our Summer School presenter this January! Due to the public holiday, this year’s Intensive will start on Wednesday 4 and run through to Sunday 8 January. This will book out so get in quick!

$420 for members & $460 non-members.

This is a fantastic opportunity to work with a renowned ceramic artist. For 5 days you can immerse yourself in your own practise. Come with a project in mind and Jenny will guide you and mentor you through it. There will be demonstrations and talks as the week progresses and you are bound to learn heaps!

For the Beginners out there we will again be offering our Introductory Intensive during the same period. A 3 and a half day condensed version of the popular Introductory course. This follows the same content as the regular Introductory course and will set up the participants to be ready to join us in Term 1 in Basic Wheel or Handbuilding. It will run on Wednesday 4 to Friday 6 January plus a follow up Raku firing session to be arranged with the group.

Kaye Pemberton

Popular teacher Kaye Pemberton has joined our teaching staff as a Special Short expert. Earlier this year she offered a Short-course called Attention to Detail. We are very excited that Kaye has agreed to run regular short courses which will focus on Wheelwork. This is suitable for those who are more experienced with their practise and want to refine/hone and further develop their skills.

Her first course for 2017 will be on the 7, 14, 21 & 28 January. Kaye will be presenting Thrilling Throwing. Check our website closer to the time for further details.
1. Doug Alexander Award: Liz Crowe
   Untitled Southern Ice porcelain, Walkers No.10 clay, Obvara raku firing, wax, sterling silver collars & stems.

2. Craft ACT Award: Jo Victoria
   Biomorphs Imperial Porcelain constructed slip cast forms.

3. Walker Ceramics Brian Privett Award for Surface Decoration: Cathy Franz
   Billy Buttons porcelain wheel-thrown and altered engobe sgraffito.

4. Jane Crick Memorial Award for Hand Building: Eden Reni
   Attraction hand-built ceramics, multimedia.

5. Craft ACT Award: Caroline Walker-Grime
   End of the Line wheel thrown-porcelain, photographic decals.

6. Clayworks Award for Wheel-throwing: Robyn Campbell
   Four Tops 4 pieces, wheel-thrown, diamond-cut ceramics.
7. TACA Tertiary Merit Award
Henrietta Farrelly-Barnett Nature Nurture slab built transfer pieces.

8. TACA Merit Award
Anne Langridge Coraline stoneware clay with slips, engobes, dry glaze.

9. TACA Merit Award
Chris Harford Vine Platter wheel-thrown stoneware clay, Tenmoku, copper red & chrome glazes, latex and wax resist.

10. Keane Ceramics Tertiary Student Award
Katrina Leske Woodfired Collection set of 5 wood-fired stoneware bowls, two golden, three darker purple.

Floriade Wrap
Canberra Potters and several other Key Arts Organisations were generously given the opportunity by artsACT to participate in Canberra’s ever popular festival of flowers.

A big thank you to those members who in turn accepted our offer to join our pop-up-shop and demonstration space for our nominated week.

Our Director Richard Thomas and Program Manager Sara Hogwood donned the safety vests and completed a Friday evening bump in and set-up. This included the purchase of shelving units and locking cabinets that will be used at Watson Arts Centre at the completion of the Floriade event.

As Saturday morning dawned the clouds gathered. Unfortunately the wet weather conspired to limit the visitors over the week. However, it didn’t dampen the enthusiasm of our makers and sellers—Velda Hunter, Jacqueline Lewis, Carol Kenchington, Jenny Harris, Jo Townsend, Maryke Henderson, Marlene Flanagan, Judy McDonald, Paul Dumetz, Sylvia Nilsson.

Thank you again artsACT for the opportunity and we’ll see what next year may bring.
Exhibitions

produced a series of sculptural vases for Delve, which she titled Zoophyta. This was inspired by the 18th century term Zoophytes, which was used to describe plants and animals whose hybridity meant they alluded easy classification. This is an apt description of Tajcnar’s work, as its aesthetic easily references many organic aquatic forms and is combined, through surface treatment, decoration and augmentation, with more constructed notions of the seaside, such as ice-cream cones. These easily recognizable elements enhance the strangeness of the work when looked at in the context of a vase, with the high level of decorative detail that has been added.

Of her work Lia has said “My work does not set out to represent particular organic forms but seeks to capitalize on the strange, complex, richly-patterned and brightly-coloured beauty of the natural world…I chose to make work that engages with the environment through a shared sense of delight and wonderment with the natural world”. In this she has been successful as the multiple and somewhat contradictory associations one thinks of when viewing her work create a sense of the fantastic, playfully preventing the work from any direct representation of nature. It sits in a liminal space, refusing to be one sole thing, and thus being capable of referencing many ideas simultaneously.

Overall Lia Tajcnar’s work is engaging and enticing because of its multifacetedness. As Victor Shklovsky said ‘Art makes the familiar strange so that it can be freshly perceived’, and this work does just that. It can be used to question preconceived notions of functionality in vases, or cultural norms surrounding the idea of visiting the sea. It references the natural aquatic life while defying true representation and emerges as a wonderful series of sculptural vases that can engage a wide range of people by reminding them of the sea.

Claybodies: a review by Sue Hewat

This exhibition is the first time the Bungendore Woodworks has ventured into the realm of a complete showing of ceramic works. Well known for its high end contemporary furniture and wood art, the gallery also supports and showcases art and craft from different genres. Nine ceramic artists from the Canberra based Claybodies group have presented a range of functional and sculptural works. The artists are Rick Beviss, Mel Brouwer, Liz Crowe, Linda Davy, Velda Hunter, Anne Langridge, Monika Leone, Jacqueline Lewis and Suzanne Oakman.

Rick Beviss displays a timeless selection of functional teapots and tea bowls. A wide assortment of bodies, spouts, lids and handles have been executed to show endless possibilities of form. The teapots are a perfect accompaniment to a selection of tea bowls.

Mel Brouwer’s work is both graphic and tactile. The balanced combinations of form, glaze and decals give a rich insight into elements of the natural world contained within the Kosciusko National Park.

Liz Crowe has created sensuous pears adorned with silver and bronze components by Susan Moore and Michael Nordsvan respectively. The combination of the Obvara firing of porcelain forms sits beautifully with just the right amount of bling to accentuate the subtleness of the sepia mottled surfaces.

Linda Davy explores sculptural birds. A seemingly life size collection of brightly coloured birds seeks to discuss the fragile balance between community and the natural environment.

Velda Hunter’s work is both graphic and figurative. Her collection of brightly coloured birds seeks to discuss the fragility of the balance between community and the natural environment.

Monika Leone’s treasure boxes are a... mix of conventional and altered shapes. Lustrously bright coloured surfaces combined with fanciful birds and plants embellishing the lids create elements of surprise.

Jacqueline Lewis has produced a quiet range of bowls, vases and wall work. All sitting within a calm Japanese aesthetic, the work takes inspiration from the organic influences of nature.

Suzanne Oakman’s sculptural work is indicative of the wondrous colour, texture and shapes of the sea. This has been expanded to include wall plaques that define the sea bed.

This large diverse exhibition is an eclectic mix of clay based art. The artists should be congratulated for promoting Claybodies in such a fine manner.

Yorta Yorta artists Jack Anselmi and Cynthia Hardie, as a collaborative group, are the winners of the 2016 Indigenous Ceramic Art Award for their installation “Midden”.

The Shepparton Art Museum has announced that the 2016 Indigenous Ceramic Art Award has been awarded to Gallery Kaiela Artists, Jack Anselmi and Cynthia Hardie, Yorta Yorta (VIC).

The winner of the $20,000 acquisitive prize was announced by Mr Rupert Myer AO during the exhibition official opening event, Saturday 20 August 2016.

Judge’s comments:
The 2016 ICAA showcased an outstanding calibre of entrants reflecting the sophistication of Indigenous ceramic art practice around the nation. This made judging difficult, requiring a very considered approach.

While the award is a ceramic award, it is also an Indigenous ceramic award. This meant that works needed to extend the ceramic medium, and also reflect the artist’s perspective as an Indigenous person and their cultural expression. The ceramic medium needed to enhance the telling of this story. Each of the works in this year’s award tells a unique story that is very personal to each of the artists, arts collectives and the community they come from, generously sharing aspects of their lives, identity, country and creation stories.

From the Red Heart
Review by Fran Romano
Cathy Franz and Sharon Field
Australian National Botanical Gardens Visitor Centre Gallery
Until 09 October
In this beautifully cohesive exhibition Cathy Franz exhibits her most recent work. Commissioned by the Botanical Gardens to respond to their Red Centre Garden, both artists have responded by creating a series of works in their chosen medium.

Cathy's ceramics show her continuing development of her signature carving technique reminiscent of linoblocks. Her forms and decoration exist in perfect harmony. At no stage does it seem that the decoration is simply added to the vessel. It is clear that both vessel and decoration have evolved together. Cathy’s considered approach to her work, the result of many, many hours of research and development, is delightful viewing.

Her works in harmony with Sharon Field’s botanical illustrations make for a lovely exhibition. It’s interesting to view each artist’s response to the same plants, and the curation of the exhibition has created a harmonious whole.

Diary dates
Workshop Orientation for Members
4 September 2.30pm
Free but bookings essential

Canberra Potters Term 3
Finishes 23 September

Canberra Potters Term 4
Bookings Now Open

Last Friday Supper Club
Tim Andrews
07 October

Canberra Potters Open Day
23 October

Design Canberra @ WAC
6–7 November
Exhibitions

Claybodies
Octagon ArtSpace
Bungendore Wood Works Gallery
until 3 October 2016
www.bungendorewoodworks.com.au
An exhibition of ceramics by 9 artists from the Claybodies ceramicists’ group. Rick Beviss, Melinda Brouwer, Liz Crowe, Linda Davey, Velda Hunter, Anne Langridge, Monika Leone, Jacqueline Lewis and Suzanne Oakman.

Where the Wild Things Cling
Ceramic sculpture by Bev Hogg
Kerrie Lowe Gallery
Opening Friday 9 September 6-8pm
till 4 October 2016
www.kerrielowe.com
Located for over twenty years in north Newtown in Sydney, the gallery features constantly changing exhibitions of work by Australian artists; clay work is supported by paintings, prints, sculpture and jewellery. The gallery is a great resource for collectors of ceramics and for unique handmade gifts.

From the Red Heart
Visitor Centre Gallery
Australian National Botanical Gardens
7 September to 9 October
Official opening 2.30pm 10 Sept
Gallery open daily 9.30–4.30pm
In From the Red Heart, ceramic artist Cathy Franzi and painter Sharon Field feature works based on the Red Centre Garden, inspired by an appreciation of Australia’s unique desert plants and landscape.

Anneke Paijmans
Recent Paintings & Ceramics
Spiral Gallery
until 19 October 2016
Official opening 5pm 23 September
Anneke is combining her signature smoke-fired ceramics with a body of small new landscapes for this one woman show.
Evening entertainment at the opening on Friday 23rd will be music by the dynamic local band, “The Go Girls” featuring songs specially created for this show.

Ceramic Accord
Watson Arts Centre Gallery
27 October to 6 November 2016
An exhibition featuring the work of four Central Western NSW ceramicists: Pauline Welfare, Marjo Carter, Valerie Stuart and Margaret Ling and South Coast ceramicist Vicki Passlow. Although coming from diverse backgrounds and experience and primarily working as individual practitioners, they meet regularly to discuss projects and future directions. Opportunities to exhibit together serve to strengthen their alliance, all of which creates a strong sense of accord, hence the title of the exhibition.

Delicate Touch V
Contemporary Australian Porcelain
Narek Galleries
until 13 November 2016
Features the work of four potters: Bronwyn Kemp, Cathy Franzi, Sophie Xarhakos and Shannon Garson.

Songs From Under the Floorboards
A Journey Beneath the Cracks of Reality with Steve Roper
Smiths Alternative Gallery
1 to 27 November 2016
Open 7 days 7am–Midnight
The work of Steve Roper covering the ceramic and painting mediums. www.narekgalleries.com

Ramesh Nithiyendran: Mud men
National Gallery of Australia, Contemporary galleries (lower ground level)
until 29 January 2017
www.nga.gov.au
Commissioned specifically for the NGA, Mud men is an installation of monumental ceramic sculptures by exciting new talent Ramesh Nithiyendran.

Opportunities

ANCA Mitchell Studio Vacancy
Spacious 60 square metre studio available from October 2016
Ideal for large and or industrial practices. Shared or sole occupancy, long-term leases are available.
Call Bettina Hill, on 02 6247 8736.

Abundant Water Trivia Night
27 October 2016
Abundant Water (developer of simple clay-pot water filter technology for rural communities in Laos and Nepal) is holding a Trivia Night at Eastlake Football Club, Thursday 27 October from 6.30pm. Tickets are $20. at Eventbrite.

Women Potters & Ceramicists
Merlene Fawdry a researcher and writer needs your help in compiling an Australian register of female potters and ceramicists. For further information please email Merlene: mfawdry@bigpond.net.au